

POCKET TOOLS • A SHORT GUIDE

My Day

My Day puts your to-do list and your Google Calendar in one list on your phone. You see what's coming up, and you tap things off as you do them.

STEP 1 • ONE TIME ONLY

Put it on your phone

Open this link on your phone:

susan25.github.io/my-day

- iPhone: in Safari, tap the Share button (the square with an arrow), then Add to Home Screen, then Add.
- Android: in Chrome, tap  at the top right, then Add to Home screen.

You'll get a My Day icon like any other app. Always open it from that icon.

THE TODAY TAB

Your day at a glance

When you open My Day, you see everything for today in one list.

2 of 8 How many things you've done so far. The green bar fills up as you go.

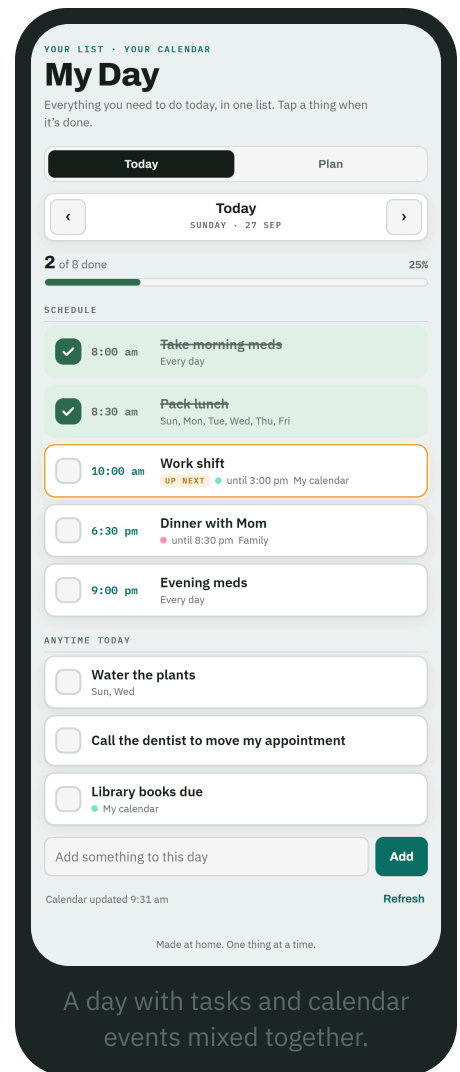

SCHEDULE Things with a time, in order, earliest first.

ANYTIME Things that just need doing sometime today.

UP NEXT The next thing coming up has an orange border. While it's happening, it says NOW.

- A coloured dot means it came from your Google Calendar. The name next to it says which calendar.

"Every day" Grey words under a task say how often it repeats.

A day with tasks and calendar events mixed together.

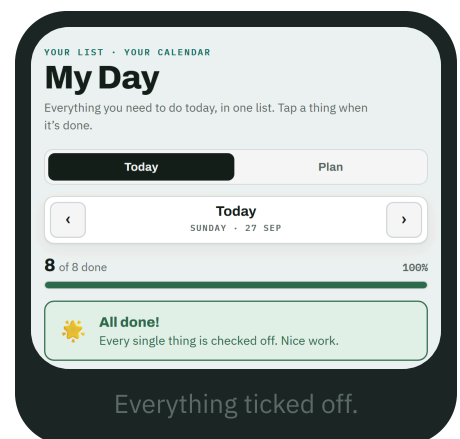

TAP, DONE

Check things off

- 1. Tap anywhere on a line when you've done it. The box turns green  and the words get a line through them.
- 2. Tapped by mistake? Tap it again to undo.
- 3. When everything is checked off, you'll see All done!

Each day starts fresh. Tasks that repeat come back unticked the next day, and yesterday's check marks stay on yesterday.

You can tick off calendar events too. That only marks them in My Day. Your Google Calendar doesn't change.

Everything ticked off.

FOR TODAY ONLY

Add something quickly

Something pops up that you need to remember today?

1. Scroll to the bottom of the Today tab.
2. Type it in the box that says Add something to this day.
3. Tap Add.

It goes under Anytime for the day you're looking at. If you want a time or want it to repeat, use the Plan tab instead (step 6).

YESTERDAY, TOMORROW AND BEYOND

Look at other days

- Tap  to see tomorrow, and keep tapping to look further ahead.
- Tap  to look back.
- To jump back, tap the green words under the date that say back to today.

Anything you add with the quick-add box goes on the day you're looking at. That's an easy way to put something on tomorrow's list.

THE PLAN TAB

Plan tasks ahead

Use the Plan tab for anything that has a time or happens more than once. Tap Plan at the top, then fill in:

1. What needs doing? Type the task, like "Pack lunch."
2. What time? Pick a time if it has one. Leave it empty (or tap No time) for "anytime."
3. How often? Pick one:
 - Just once then choose the day.
 - Every day
 - Some days then tap the days you want. They turn green.
4. Tap Add to my list.

Everything you've planned is listed underneath, under My tasks.

Example: laundry every Monday

1. Type Laundry.
2. Leave the time empty, or pick one.
3. Tap Some days, then tap Mo so it turns green.
4. Tap Add to my list.

Now Laundry is on your list every Monday. It starts unticked each week. For more than one day, tap more days. To take a day off, tap it again.

Good for: meds, getting ready for work, chores on certain days, and bills or appointments you need to remember.

PLANS CHANGE

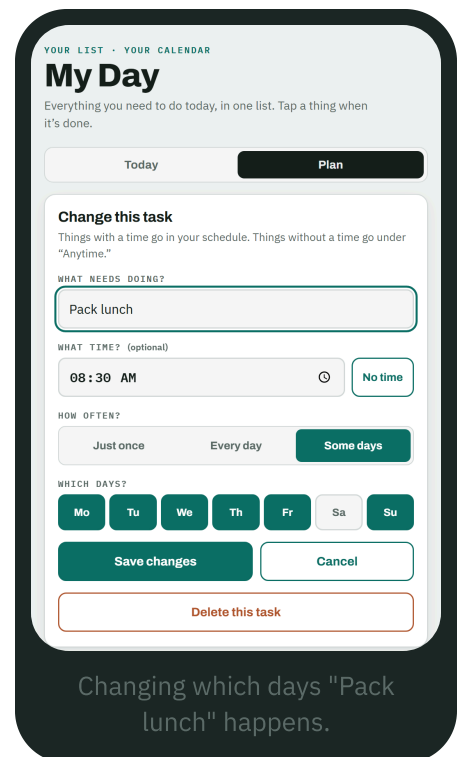

Change or delete a task

1. Go to the Plan tab.
2. Find the task under My tasks and tap Edit.
3. The task opens at the top. Change what you need, then tap Save changes.

To delete it

Tap Delete this task, then tap it again to be sure. Asking twice stops you deleting something by accident.

Changed your mind? Tap Cancel and nothing changes.

CONNECT ONCE

Your Google Calendar

My Day can show everything from your Google Calendar right in your day. You only connect it once.

1. Go to Plan and scroll to the bottom.
2. Tap Connect Google Calendar.
3. Sign in to your Google account.
4. Google shows a screen saying "Google hasn't verified this app." That's expected. My Day is a private app made for you. Tap Continue.
5. Tick the box that lets My Day see your calendar, then tap Continue.

Go back to Today. Your events are there, next to your tasks.

Keeping it up to date

My Day remembers your calendar, so it still shows with no signal. When you want the latest version, tap Refresh at the bottom of the Today tab. A Google window may flash open and close. That's normal.

My Day can only look at your calendar. It can't add, change or delete anything in it. To change an event, use the Google Calendar app as usual.

Good to know

- Your tasks live on your phone. They aren't sent anywhere. That also means they don't show up on another phone or computer.
- It works without signal. Your tasks and your last copy of the calendar are always there.
- Only some calendars showing? My Day shows the calendars that are ticked in the Google Calendar app. Tick or untick them there, then tap Refresh.
- Always open My Day from its home-screen icon. On an iPhone, the icon and a Safari tab keep separate lists, so a task added in one won't show in the other.

Your task list can be erased if you:

- clear your browser's history or website data
- delete the My Day icon from your home screen (iPhone)
- switch to a new phone

Your calendar comes back when you connect again, but your own tasks would need adding again.

Quick answers

I ticked something by mistake.

Tap it again. The tick comes off.

A task I added isn't on today's list.

Check which day you picked, or which days if it repeats. Go to Plan, tap Edit on the task, and look at "How often."

My new calendar event isn't showing.

Tap Refresh at the bottom of the Today tab.

It says "The Google window was blocked."

Tap Refresh (or Connect) again.

It says "Access blocked" when I connect.

Your Google account needs to be added to the My Day setup. Ask the person who set up My Day for you. It only takes a minute.
